

PhD Program in Cognitive Neuroscience and Philosophy of Mind

2020 Seminars

14/09

11:00-12:00

Giacomo Zanotti, Physicalism and the burden of parsimony

12:00-13:00

Silvia Bianchi, Mutual Grounding for Weak Structuralism: a Non-foundationalist Perspective

14:00-15:00

Matteo Baggio, Intuition in Logic

15:00-16:00

Mohammad Maarefi, Logic and Geometry

16/09

15:00-16:00

Francesca Conca, Investigating the multidimensionality of abstract concepts through a multidisciplinary approach

16:00-17:00

Davide Mocchi, Alternative paths: The remainder of the subject-predicate link.

23/09

15:00-16:00

Sara Lo Presti, Neurophysiological and cognitive measures of motor cognition and decision making

16:00-17:00

Francesco Beltrame, Why-questions, focus and contrast-class. A study on Italian.

01/10

10:30-11:30

Marco Facchin, Predictive Processing (under the free energy principle) is not a representationalist theory of cognition

11:30-12:30

Arianna Beghetto, An Epistemic mark for the Mark of the Mental

12:30-13:30

Elisabetta Tonini, Pragmatics in the lifespan: an investigation on developmental trajectories and training programs.

Note: Seminars will take place via Zoom at link provided.